Basketball Playoffs April 10th and 11th

Boxing Bouts Draw Fair Crowd

Raymond's first Boxing card for six or seven years held Wednesday night in the Opera House was fairly well attended, all were well satisfied with the card arranged, sponsored by the Raymond A.A.A. and assisted by E. H. Wagstaff and C. A. Layne who have been coaching the local leather pushers during the winter months.

Officials of the evening were: Jud Foley, Milk River Referee; H. Schofield, Lyle Holland and E. H. Wagstaff, ring judges; James H. Walker and Burle Robinson, Timers; Paul Dahl and Doug Bigelow, seconds; Rayo Wolf, Shirley King, John O'Brien, et al, were busy all evening lining up the bouts, and getting the boys lined up by the ring.

To detail each bout would require more space than we have, but we might say that all the bouts were interesting contestants evenly matched, and the score cards as they came back from the judges showed only a difference of two to five points between the fighters. As the evening progressed the crowd commenced yelling for some knock-outs, and finishing punches, but the nearest they came to this was when D. Leavitt of Glenwood was caught in the solar plexus by Merle Sorenson and his wind knocked out for a few seconds, during which time he rolled on the floor in apparent pain and misery. The trailers of these boxers in the various towns deserve great praise for their work, and the boys showed good form in nearly all the bouts, and in the main good generalship. The management of the card are to be congratulated, and judging from comments heard another card earlier in the year next winter would be very well received. Now just a few words about each of the bouts.

No. 1, Battle Royal—Harold Card Jack McPhee, Frank Hall, Ray Zemp, Bert Hall and Jerry Witbeck. These boys mixed it freely for a few minutes and then they commenced falling and tripping, and in a few seconds all but the last named two were out of the ring. These two gladiators socked and swung, until their breath was all gone and Jud Foley called it a draw for them.

No. 2, 80 lb. Class—Jimmy Card of Raymond and W. Leavitt of Woodford. These boys were evenly matched, and swapped blows quite evenly. Card led the attack all the way through and was given the decision.

No. 3, 80 lbs.—Merle Sorenson, Magrath and Ken Myers of Cardston mixed it freely. Both showed good training. The going was pretty even most of the way but Sorenson showed speed and led the attack, and was given the decision.

No. 4, 83 lb. Class—Verl Melchman of Raymond and J. Nelson of Woodford put up a good fight. Melchman has a good left and landed frequently, but Nelson pushed the fight and earned the judges' decision.

Bout No. 5 — Yonne Tuffy Dahl, Raymond, and "Wild Bill" Davey of Magrath, at 55 lbs., furnished the fireworks of the evening in their go. Without any guard or precaution they stood up to each other and battled away. Before the end of the time they were both out.

and the referee called it a draw much to the satisfaction of the crowd.

No. 6, 70 lbs.—Julius Kovrig of Raymond and Hugh Sloan of Cardston put up a good fight. Sloan showed the most experience and had a slight advantage in reach and height. He led the attack most of the time, and while Kovrig landed some solid body blows, Sloan was aggressive enough to get the nod.

Bout No. 7, 100 lbs.—Takeo O'Shiro, Raymond and R. J. Knight, Woodford. Knight had quite an advantage in height and reach, but O'Shiro had a vigorous two-fisted attack, and he kept up a barrage under and around Knight's guard that won him the decision.

No. 8, 126 lbs.—Billy Gregory, Waterton and O. Harman of Magrath gave the fans a flock of thrills in their bout. Harman was willing and worked hard. Gregory was cool and waited for the openings, when he landed with telling effect. Evidently he had been in more squared circles than Harman and took the going cooler. His telling punches and ring generalship won him the decision of the judges.

Bout No. 9, 147 lbs. — Ben Strader of Woodford and Gordon Nielson of Cardston fought a real battle. Nielson is afflicted with a smeller that bleeds freely, and this made a good target for Strader, who opened it up in the first round, and then kept working on it with his left for the remainder of the five round go. Strader also has a long right that never misses an opportunity and lands like a sledge hammer when an opening presents itself. Nielson put up a game fight, and kept at it but the age and experience of Strader gave him a decided advantage over Nielson.

Bout No. 10, 135 lb, Novice—Jack Oland, Waterton and Jack Knight, Woodford put up a good fight. Oland was the aggressor most of the way and while he showed no great speed, he was landing with right and left very steadily. Knight worked hard and got in some good blows, but Oland seemed to be master of the situation all the way thru and was given the decision.

No. 11, 117 lbs. Novice—Chick Hawk, Raymond and B. Holland, Cardston. This was one of the best bouts of the evening. Holland, like Nielson, has a schnozzle that bleeds easily, and the bout had hardly begun when Chick started the flow. Holland fought gamely against this handicap for the 3 rounds. Hawk has a two-fisted attack, and as long as a hand is free he is punching. His continual punting told on Holland, who was pretty well given out when the song went. Hawk won the decision, but both got a big hand from the crowd.

Bout No. 12, scheduled between Norman Lybbert of Raymond and Dick Burfield, Lethbridge, did not come off as the Doctor would not let Burfield fight because of his heart.

No. 13, 90 lbs. Exhibition between Knight of Woodford and Jack Finch, Raymond. The bout was rather druggy, and both danced around but never got down to business. Finch was given the decision.

Bout No. 14, 113 lbs. — Lee Powelson, Raymond and Chase

Definite arrangements have been made for the Dominion Basketball Playoffs between the Victoria Dominos and the Raymond Union Jacks, in the Opera House, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 10th and 11th. This information was given out by Lloyd McPhee, President of the local R.A.A.A. on Thursday. Every booster in town should attend these games and support the local Association. They are under heavy expense to bring the Dominos here, and after the Jacks coming through in the Provincial finals as they did, and meeting and making such a good showing against the visiting quints this winter, surely all will agree that they are worthy of our support.

Tickets will be on sale at Vely's Barber Shop for these games and you should get yours NOW, and not wait another day. People outside may, phone 71 or 1, L. McPhee.

The "Middle Watch" Well Presented

The Lethbridge Playgoers' Club is certainly to be commended for the very fine entertainment they brought to Raymond, when the "Middle Watch" was presented to an appreciative though small audience.

Without going into detail respecting the individual players, we certainly feel to praise the time and effort required to prepare such an offering, and the costuming and stage settings were very suitable to the story of the play. Most of the parts required exaggerated accent and actions on the part of the performers, and yet these were all well carried out.

The production was staged locally through the co-operation of the Raymond Rotary Outpost and Brewerton's Capitol, and these two agencies are deserving of the praise of Raymond's public for encouraging and sponsoring amateur dramatics. No doubt the wintry weather which prevailed kept a great many away from the performance, and all who attended agree, that those who were not there missed a very fine bit of entertainment. George Brown and his orchestra played between the acts and kept the audience entertained the entire time.

Smith, Glenwood. No contestant had been arranged for Smith and Powelson went in to fill up. He was just recovering from a serious illness, and the doctor would only let him in the ring for three minutes. It was a fast and tough battle while it lasted but scheduled for three rounds and Powelson unable to finish, Smith was given the decision. Powelson got a great hand from the crowd.

Bout No. 15, 80 lbs.—Merle Sorenson came back again for a bout with D. Leavitt of Glenwood. The boys put up a good fight and Leavitt was felled in the first, but came right back in for more. Sorenson pushed the fight most of the way and was given the decision.

Bout No. 16—Exhibition between Doug Bigelow and Vera Low of Cardston. Bigelow is an experienced ring man, and his experience told. They had on extra heavy gloves, and no damage was done. No decision was given.

Bout No. 17, 160 lbs.—St. Dilatush of Waterton, and C. Luchanski of Lethbridge met in what promised to be the most exciting bout of the evening. Dilatush showed fine form, and landed solidly time after time. Luchanski hurt his arm and conceded the bout to Dilatush at the end of the first round. Dilatush is a very promising fighter.

WORK ON OUR STREETS

During the past couple of weeks several hundreds of loads of cinders have been spread on the street around the silent policeman, down the street east as far as the Massey-Harris ware house and parking spaces on the north of the Security block, and in front of the Opera House and along that street. Cinders have also been put in front of the post office, and as soon as weather permits, this will be carried down the entire length of this block. There are several other low places that will also be filled up, which it is hoped will make the streets better especially in wet and rainy weather.

Naturally there has been more or less criticism regarding this movement, and of course everything has not been just as it might have been. Even so, none will say but the work has been needed and will do a great amount of good, especially in the Jupiter Pluvius pours his moisture to soften and "moo" up this splendid day of ours. Probably then, if not at present, most citizens will agree that the work was justified, and is a good civic investment.

Another splendid suggestion we heard the first of the week. That is, that a loader which is in the district, might be obtained for a few days and used in the cinder pit of the Sugar Factory to load wagons and trucks, and then arrange a cinder drive and put 5,000 loads or so on our streets, stretching them out to many of the blocks now causing so much trouble. With this mechanical loader the hardest labor of a cinder drive would be done away with and a team or a truck would make a large number of trips each day, and a couple of days work following good organization would mean a great deal to the town.

Raymond has serious road problems which because of lack of drainage and the alkali content in the soil, makes continual work essential and a lasting road is very hard to get and harder still to maintain. In comparison with towns where drainage is no problem, it is manifestly unfair to compare their bills for road work each year with ours. A culvert in a well drained piece of road will last almost indefinitely, because the water does not stay on it to rot it out. Here, with ponds and puddles everywhere during the summer and fall because of the rain and irrigation, our curverts go fast. The road bed gets water logged, a few heavy loads and we have a bad hole in the road, and the next storm we have no road in that particular spot.

All of these things cause a heavy bill for road upkeep. However, we must have roads; and to get them and keep them, we must spend money. Is there any other solution?

WHEN YOU LOOK BACK!

(By John Edwin Price)

Someone has well said "What I aspired to be and was not comforts me."

A man who tries to do another dirt but finds that other forces step in and turn the deed to good account is none the better for the happy outcome—unless it brings regret that he had not meant better. He meant evil and is evil to that extent.

By the same token a man who means well and wants to do well but whose good intentions are thwarted by his own weakness or the machinations of others may be at heart a good man.

The only danger in broadcasting this thought is that some may take to easy an attitude toward their failures to measure up to their ideals.

However when you look back in disgust at your wrong choices you are in good company. Only those who let others choose for them are guilty of no wrong choices.

The best men in finance politics friendships and morality will sometimes make mistakes.

A runner who trips will not for a long gaze backward to see what he tripped over. His eyes are front-on the track—toward the goal.

So when you look back in disgust let the glance be but one step at a time.

Remember the story of the young prince whose enemies forced him while real young to live with a foul-mouthed old hag. One day he saw a letter which told of his noble birth. That same day his keepers were lashing him trying to make him say some vile thing. Finally he burst out through his tears with "I won't say it! I tell you I won't! I was born to be a king!"

Possibly your disgust with the life you have led thus far is born of a gradually dawning realization that you were born to be a king. It is a hopeful realization.

QUOTES FROM "THIS ROTARIAN AGE"

(By John Edwin Price)

"The human animal though lacking the strength of the lion, the ferocity of the tiger and the agility of the ape possessed a brain of potentiality and thereby gained dominion over the lower orders.

A Teacher, whose name became immortal arose to embrace the doctrine of the brotherhood of man, giving it religious sanction as a part of the "inspired word." He suffered contumely, ridicule disdain and eventually death for having lived too far in advance of his times, but his doctrines lived in the hearts of his devoted followers who grew in number until they girded the earth. Other religions taught the doctrine of universal brotherhood and made it an essential part of their faiths.

As the sun breaks through the clouds, so the love of fellow ship has from time to time thru out the ages broken through the crust of suspicion and hatred. Slowly and gradually men who have loved fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers have drawn neighbors and friends within their circles.

Many obstacles to the expansion of good-will have presented themselves. Differences in languages and religions have been among the most formidable, but commercial rivalries have also been dissension-breeders. Average public opinion has always been in favor of the limited circle. To leave matters as they were was to be in popular favor; to sponsor the broader outlook was to become a social outcast. Many who view as a matter of course the march of civilization to its present state and find satisfaction in it, are skeptical as to the future. History has no lesson for them. Had they lived in the cave period, they would have branded traitor him within whose heart first dwelt the spirit of good will toward all men.

Ideas have unhinged the gates of empires. Epigrammatic utterances have influenced the lives of generations of men. Soon after the end of the civil war, a New York editor wrote a sentence of four words: "You—no man, go west." It aroused New England and all the east to action as no words in times of peace had ever aroused those parts before. From farm, fact-in the ooze and slime have no regrets therefore they will never climb out or be anything but creatures of the slime.

You were born to be a king. While there is life, there is possibility.

ory, and home the trek began. Fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, uncles, aunts and cousins all were there. Every known means of conveyance was used. Slowly and laboriously these hardy pioneers traversed mountains, hills and plains searching for better and cheaper land and other forms of wealth, and at the same time spreading the doctrine of religious liberty.

W.B. Porter was a Lethbridge business visitor Wednesday.

Pat: "What does it mean in the Bible when it says, 'the quick and the dead,'"

Mike: "Sure Pat, it means the pedestrians."

Pat: "And how's that?"
Mike: "Some of 'em is quick, and the rest is dead."

CONFESSION

One of Levinski's customers was notorious for his slowness in meeting liabilities. In desperation Levinski sent the following letter:

Sir: Who bought a lot of goods from me and did not pay. You. Who promised to pay in sixty days? You. Who didn't pay in six months? You. Who is a thief, liar and scoundrel?
Yours truly,
Al Levinski.

CERTAINTY

"1492—none."

WEEKLY LETTER

FEEDING BABY CHICKS AND GROWING STOCK

Each year at this time we have a large number of requests for information on feeding baby chicks and growing stock, so in this week's letter detailed information will be given on the rations used at the Lethbridge Station. In compounding these rations an effort has been made to include as much farm grown feed as possible and to simplify the ration as much as is consistent with good feeding practice.

It must be kept in mind that all the requirements of a rapidly developing chick's body cannot be met by farm grown grains and some supplements must be added in order that a balanced ration may be obtained. As the best procurable ration is required by the baby chicks in order that they may be well started, purchased ingredients are largely used. In both the chick and growing rations purchased protein and mineral supplements are included and these cannot be omitted without seriously reducing the efficiency of the rations.

The chick ration may appear somewhat elaborate and for any one raising a small number of chicks the trouble of getting & mixing the many ingredients may be too great. Prepared chick feeds, from reliable firms have proved quite satisfactory in practical use and these may be cheaper to use where only small amounts of feed are required but care should be taken to buy only feeds with a guaranteed analysis.

The chick starter used at this Station has been used for several years and has proven to be quite satisfactory. It is given below:

Cornmeal (Yellow)	35 parts
Shorts	20 parts
Bran	20 parts
Ground Hulless Oat or Rolled Oats	12 parts
Beef scrap (sifted)	10 parts
Skim Milk Powder	10 parts
Bone Meal	5 parts
Alfalfa meal	2.5 parts
Charcoal	2 parts
Grit	2 parts
Salt	1/2 part
Cod liver oil	1 per cent.

This mash is placed before the chicks as soon as they are put in the brooders and feed is kept before them continually after that time.

Where liquid skim milk is available to the chicks in unlimited quantities the skim milk powder may be omitted from the mash but bone meal and meat scrap should be retained. The cod liver oil is absolutely essential during the time of the year when the chicks are confined and do not have access to direct sunlight as sunlight filtering through common window glass has no value from the standpoint of vitamin production.

The chick scratch feed is given to the birds after they are a few days old and it consists of equal parts of cracked corn, cracked wheat and rolled oats.

At from six to eight weeks of age the birds are gradually changed from the starter to the growing mash which at this Station has been considerably modified and is made up as follows:

Ground wheat	40 parts
Ground barley	20 parts
Ground oats	20 parts
Beef scrap	15 parts
Bone meal	5 parts
Fine salt	1 part
Charcoal	2 parts

To this is added one per cent of cod liver oil as long as the birds are confined in the brooder houses but when they are placed on the summer range the cod liver oil is omitted. Alfalfa leaves are also fed daily when the birds are confined and calcium carbonate is available in hoppers at all times.

The scratch grain contains wheat 2 parts, barley 1 part and is fed as about one-third of the total ration during the early growing stage but is gradually increased to one-half of the total ration. The aim of the farmer should be to have birds of the heavy breeds reach sexual maturity at about six months of age. If they are maturing too rapidly more scratch grain should be included in the ration and less should be included if development is not rapid enough.
